Former Mayor to Head Arcadia Historical Society

Florella Lauber, the first woman to be elected to the Arcadia City Council and serve as mayor, has been elected to head the Arcadia Historical Society.

Lauber has the distinction of also being the first woman to serve on the city's planning commission, where she serves eight and one-half years (also as chair). This followed service on the Arcadia Personnel Bureau. She was president for two terms on the West San Gabriel Planning Council, which coordinates 15 cities.

Lauber is a former president of the Woman's Club of Arcadia and a 40-year member. She is the charter president of the Alpha Auxiliary of Methodist Hospital Foundation, which she helped found. She is an honorary member of the Alhambra Club of Arcadia, a life member of the Methodist Hospital Auxiliary, a former 20-year member of the Santa Anita Athletic Club and an associate member of Arcadia Association League.

Prior to volunteer years, she worked in electronic engineering and manufacturing, and was a successful Realtor in Arcadia and San Marino for 15 years.

For the past five years, she has been social and community columnist for Core Media newspaper.

Lauber is a third generation native Californian, born in Sierra Madre, moving to Arcadia in 1936. She was married to the late Harry Lauber and has one son, Lawrence, also an Arcadian.

Lauber stated, "This is an exciting and extremely important year. We expect the opening of the new Historical Museum by the end of summer, and we must engage a new curator to try and fill the great void with Carol Fahley's retirement November 1. I look forward to positive growth due to the caliber and strength of my fellow directors."

Executive board members are: John Wynn, first vice president; Roseana Weiler, Margaret Barrows,

Florella Lauber

Karlach Barnes and Gil Simmons, directors; Kirk Davidson (Museum director); Matt Gilguson, Bob Hachich, Theresa Hwang, Barbara Kovacic, Carol Libby (curator), Bill Schmitt, Mire Young and Chuck Bertulina.

The construction of a "three-way embrace" of city, private and Historical Society funds was celebrated Saturday morning with the grand opening ceremony for the Ruth and Charles Giff Arnold Historical Museum. Florence Lauber, president of the Arcadia Historical Society, pointed the efforts of the three entities in making possible the facility that traces the history of the people who inhabited what is today the City of Arcadia.

The exhibit area of the museum contains a timeline that starts with the village of Alcaplaga and depicts the city in its transition from ranch and farm life to a community of homes. The new facility replaces a temporary bank building used as the museum since 1982.

Almost 400 people attended the grand opening and applauded the efforts of Carol Libby, who has served as volunteer museum director since 1985. "I have thoroughly enjoyed my role as director. It's hard to release, but it must be," said Libby, who will retire next month.

It was noted that Charlotte Davenport, who was the museum's first director, served from 1982 to 1995. Her son, Curt Davenport, is immediate past president of the Historical Society, and he was present to be recognized in memory of his mother's contribution to the museum.

Named in recognition of Ruth and Charles Giff's major donation, the museum is located at 300 W. Huntington Dr., adjacent to the Arcadia Community Center where Hilary Avenue. Hoo-lington Drive and Canyon Drive meet. Charles Giff, the city's only four-term mayor, and his wife are 42-year residents of Arcadia. "It's a pleasure to do this," said Giff.

Other major donors are the City of Arcadia, the H. N. and Frances C. Berger Foundation, the Oak Tree Racing Association and Santa Anita Park.

Lauber, a six-year volunteer of the Historical Society board of directors, praised the project team as the "heroes" that worked with the project through completion. They are Don Freeman, Pat Malloy, Phil Saxton and Cindy Rowe from the city staff.

Also introduced were current Historical Society board members, including Barbara Barnes, Margaret Brewster, Chuck Bortolone, Davenport, Bill Cleason, Robert Harbicht, Theresa Hwang, Barbara Krasner, Libby, Bill Schmitt, Gil Spornster, Rowena Wenler, John Woo and Mary Young.

The museum is open, free of charge, Tuesday through Friday from 11:30 to 3:30 p.m. and on Saturday from 10 a.m. to noon.

Dear Fioretta:

Now that the date of April 18th is drawing near, at which time the new City Council Members will be installed, I want to extend my congratulations and thanks to you.

During your years on the Planning Commission and the City Council, great strides have been made in the City of Arcadia. You have shown courage and determination to bring about that which was in the best interest of the City, and you have been far-sighted in the positions you have espoused. You have enjoyed seeing many of your ideas come to fruition.

Congratulations on all you have helped to accomplish. You will leave a void in the City Council that will not be filled.

Very sincerely,

Bob

Dear Mayor Lauber,

You probably have more memorabilia than you can handle, however, I thought you would enjoy adding the enclosed to your collection.

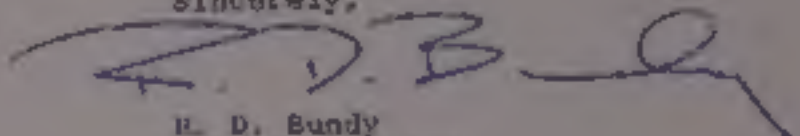

It is the "Bennington Flag" that flew over "Bennington Plaza" at Fashion Park through 1976.

The Bicentennial event was such a great success and undoubtedly will be remembered by those who attended for years to come (including yours truly), that I wanted you to have flag as a reminder.

I would also like to take the opportunity to wish you and your family a very Happy and Prosperous New Year.

Best Regards.

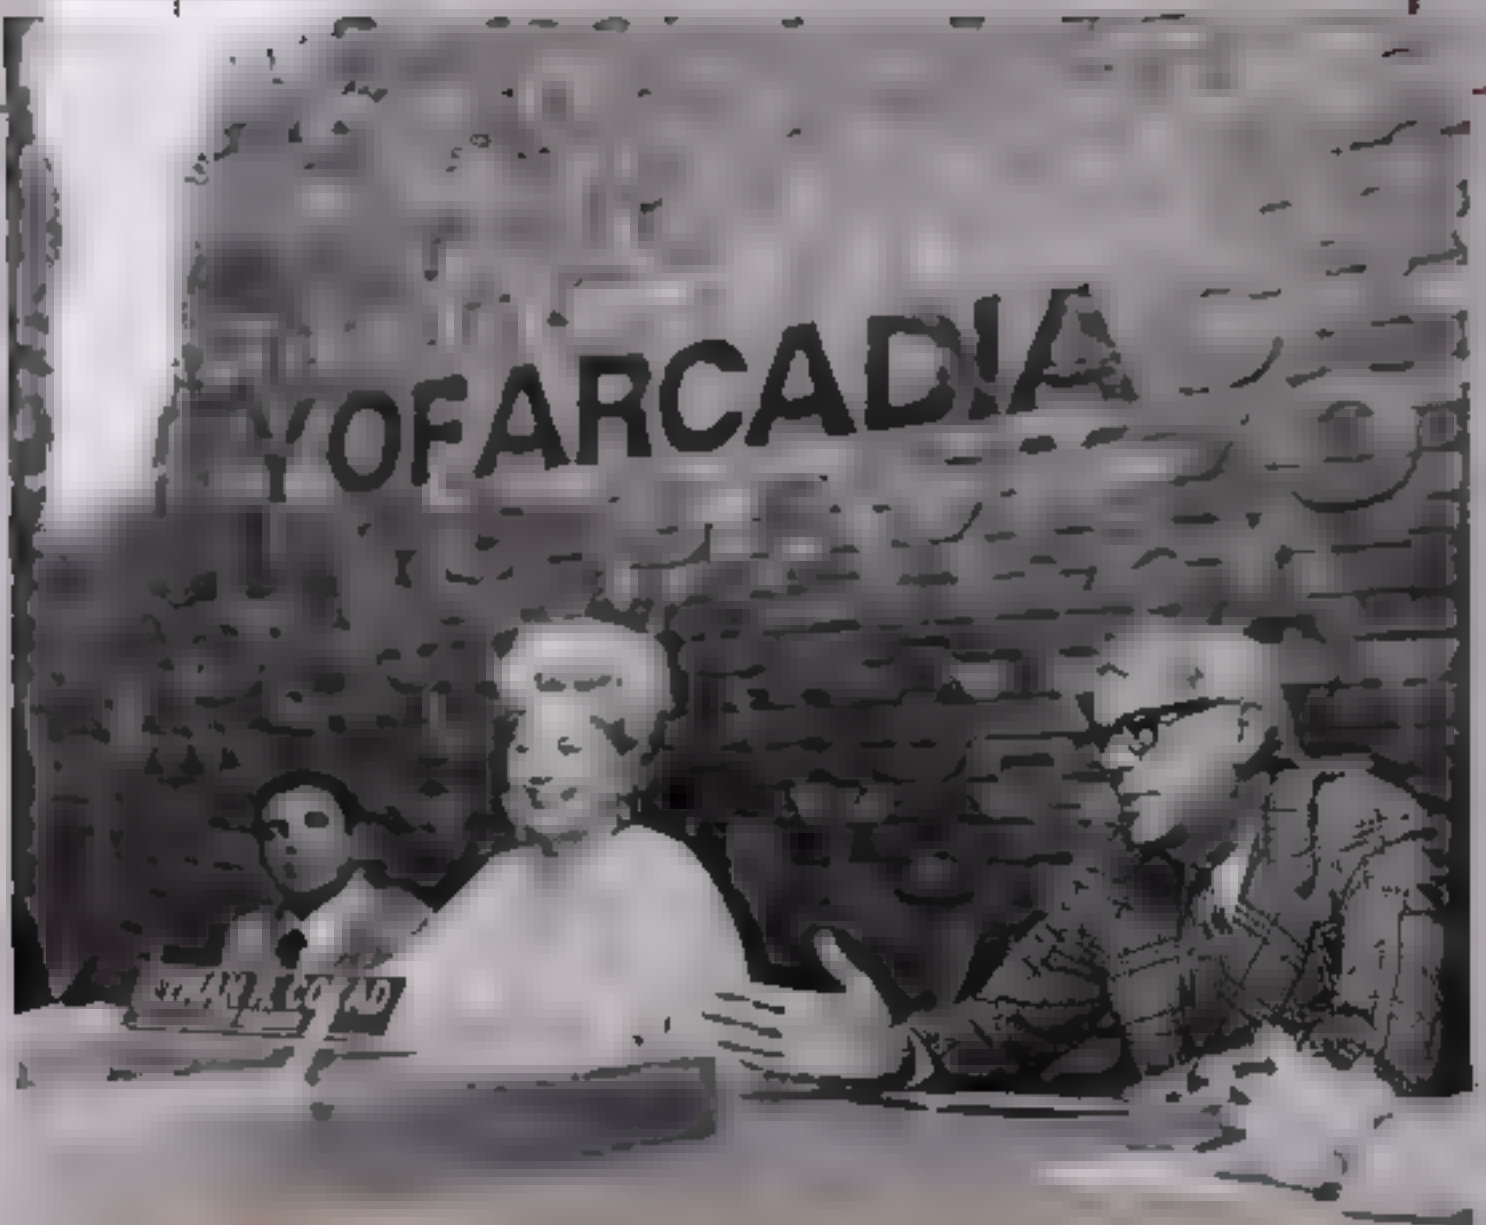

Sincerely,

Dear Colleagues:

It is with mixed emotions that I write this letter to you, but wanted to extend the courtesy of letting you know of my decision not to seek re-election before the story broke in the newspaper Sunday. I am sure you all realize that I have worked this matter for a long time, and it was a difficult decision to make after 13 years of being part of the City Family.

As you know, Harry has undergone two major open heart surgeries in the last two years and unfortunately there have been complications due to a seige of bronchitis last November. His progress has been discouragingly slow, and it is probable that he will take an early retirement. For these reasons I want to be in a position to spend more time with him.

You are a great group...we have a good team going and I hate to break it up, but know you will understand.

Sincerely,

Flanigan

Women Executives

By JACK ARTHUR
Feature Staff Writer

Before the dawn of the 20th century, women had been regarded as housewives, child bearers and church-going members of the community. They were not considered as business executives.

This changed itself in the 19th century when women began to enter the business world. They were not only allowed to work but were also encouraged to do so. They began to take on more and more responsibilities in the business world.

Today, women are no longer regarded as housewives. They are business executives, managers, and leaders. They are making a significant impact on the business world.

Dear Ms. Lauber

We appreciated your speaking to our students and sharing your thoughts on how to be successful on the job.

This type of activity gives students an awareness of what is available in the working world and the positive aspects, as well as the negative, of a variety of careers.

The students participating in the "Four School in Action" program enjoyed hearing you in Hinchey's auditorium. Many of our students have, as a result of this program, received jobs.

We hope you will be able to visit with us again in the near future.

PACKAGE YOURSELF - IT'S THE ONLY WAY TO GO

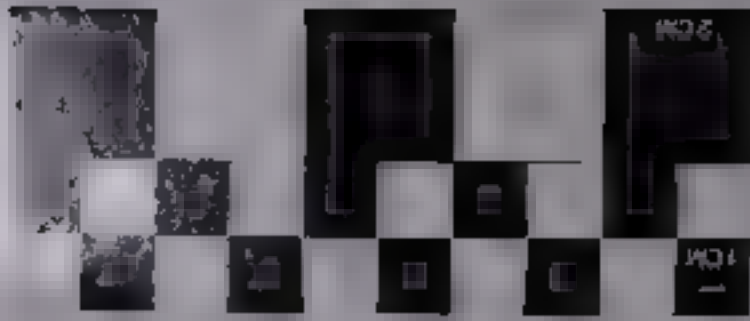

You have all just completed a brief exposure into a portion of the business world, so rather than give a speech, I am going to share with you the facts that have proven helpful to me and necessary if you are to accept a role of leadership in the business or political world.

1. START NOW. The best place to start is in school. Accept chairmanships, officers' roles if the opportunity is available. If this is too difficult at first, volunteer to work on committees. There are opportunities in club or after school activities -- projects, Youth Commission, etc. to become involved in. There is no better starting point than assuming responsibility and learning to work with others. Learning to take orders is a must ...before you can successfully give orders so others will listen and follow.
2. LEARN TO BE SENSITIVE TO OTHERS' FEELINGS. Practice this and make a game out of it, but learn it young! - because this is one of the necessary lessons that must be developed and used to be truly successful. You cannot motivate people with power alone and without the ability to motivate others, you cannot achieve the role of a leader.
3. APPLY YOURSELF. Note. Give example of May Company young help, no interest displayed in learning or helping customer. In five minutes of self-help, orient yourself briefly with stock. When alone, if caught unprepared, at least attempt to help customer, or phone and ask. Let me elaborate on that statement. Don't ever be afraid to ask questions. I ask them constantly at the Council level and always have if I have any doubts as to my interpretation or understanding of a given situation. People will always admire you for it, so never let embarrassment keep you from asking or clarifying anything. Another thought along this subject is, find out for yourself if it is feasible. Don't accept your friends' preconceived ideas or misinterpretations. Train your mind to be investigative . do not assume.

4. APPEARANCE Styles and fashion change and this is to be expected among all age groups, but when you go to apply for work and when you are working, stop and think, use common sense. If you were the personnel director or a customer, place yourself in that position. Who would you want to hire or who would you want to purchase from, someone dressed neat, clean and with some dignity, or the sloppy joe with the faded denim, the tennies, and the Afro or stringy hair. Don't wear what your friends would go for..project yourself into the business role. Now, along with appearance, let me touch on posture briefly. When walking, carry yourself with pride, stand up straight and walk briskly. If working in a store or office, take a pencil or pen and paper. They are always good props. Be on time.
5. ATTITUDE. Be friendly but businesslike. Avoid gossip. That will label you. No one trusts a gossip. Learn to take criticism. You will want to learn and earn -- for the first leads to more of the second. Don't be afraid to work a few minutes overtime. This always makes a good impression instead of the type that trips over you rushing to be first at the time clock.

These are basic principles that you should have heard before and will again, but don't tune out on them because they are altruisms.

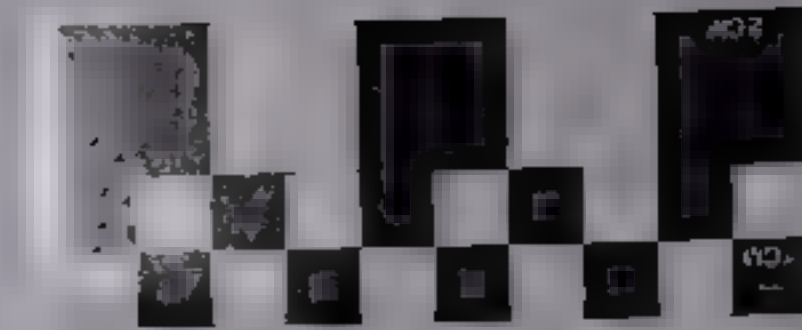

Now, the next step is inner confidence and how far can I go?... and that, my friends, is up to no one but you. Every person sitting in this room was given at least one talent. Some are evident, some your parents have helped you to develop or discover. Others of you may not know yourself yet. Do not be distressed. Get out and work, join clubs, groups and doors start to open, and where they lead is exciting.

Note: My experiences..._____work at Hertel's led to plastic company, Wancko Electronics, then Women's Club, Planning Commission, Real Estate and Council. I don't know what's ahead, but I keep on learning and working. Don't say I can't, say I will try.

PACK UP YOURSELF. Now that your education is over, and let's assume you have had some paid-time positions along the way you are ready to join the thousands of other young graduates flooding the employment market. How do you get their attention over the next fellow?

RESUMES. Remember this above all else. Both men and women, girls and boys, -- have a professional resume typed. Explain...that everything employers are interested in club joiners and officers for it shows leadership, ability...(remember many positions are trained on the job). If you worked in a service station, that retailing - and elaborate - gas and automotive parts and products...or liquor store and so forth.

I know a young man who has always been able to pick and choose from two to three job offers while some of his friends with as good or more education cannot find anything. He has packaged himself. He dresses well and mails out dozens of resumes and then follows through. After three to five days from receipt of the resume, pay a visit to the company, then follow with calls. Many times the position is given to the one who is persistent. This shows tenacity (stick-to-it-iveness). Employers like this trait for it shows you will follow through on the job and are worth training. When you are called in for an interview dress businesslike, do not chew gum (this turns interviewers off). Sit up in the chair, do not slouch, look the interviewer in the face, speak out and don't mumble. Answer questions honestly. If you lack experience always add, "I am certain I could learn quickly, Mr. _____." You might add, "I have always been interested in electronics (or whatever) and would like to make this my career."icker on pay if you are in a position, or "I don't mind being a trainee as long as there is promise of a promotion or opportunity to move up if I qualify."

I hope these will be useful to each of you, but if everyone just remembers one, you will still be ahead. Remember, every experience in life, good and bad, should be considered a deposit in your bank of life to be there when you need to draw on it, so go out and start making deposits to your own account. Good Luck.

Dear Mrs. Langer:

On behalf of the Arcadia American Legion, Post Number 247, may we express our thanks to you for consenting to be a part of our 38th City Dignitaries Night, on March 23.

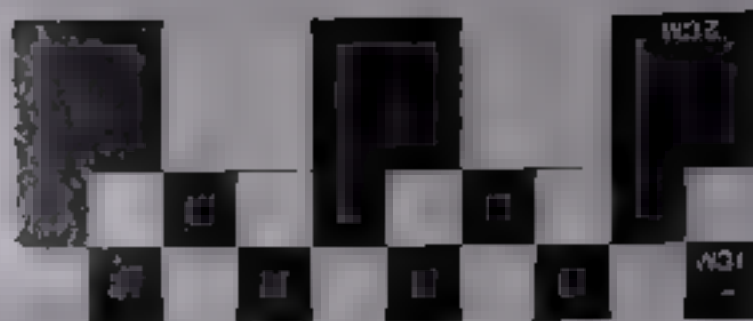

We have just received confirmation that Supervisor Peter F. Schabarum will be our guest speaker for the evening. The concluding portion of the program is inspirational, revolving around our Flag.

The evening is a special time for the American Legion to recognize and honor all of our public officials who serve so diligently and honorably throughout the year, and look forward to having both yourself and Mayor Charles Gibb as a part of the evening.

This year we have changed the Night's name from City Dad's to City Dignitaries, due to the female impact in our society and government, at all levels. We are extremely proud of your accomplishments, and congratulate you as our first Councilwoman. We invite you to briefly speak on any subject you deem appropriate.

Yours very truly,

It is a common mistake to think that the only way to get a good job is to get a good education. In fact, the only way to get a good job is to get a good education and a good attitude. A good attitude is a positive attitude that is based on a belief in the value of hard work and a belief in the value of the company you are working for. A New Spirit

The President has called for a new spirit in the government. He has said that the people have a right to know the truth, and that the government should be open to their scrutiny. This is a bold statement, and it is one that the people are entitled to hear.

A new spirit is needed in the government. The people have a right to know the truth, and the government should be open to their scrutiny. This is a bold statement, and it is one that the people are entitled to hear.

The image is a very low-contrast, high-contrast scan of a document page. It appears to be a ledger or a notebook with a grid-like structure. There are several columns and rows visible, though the text is extremely faint and illegible. Some handwritten entries are visible, particularly in the upper left and middle sections. The overall appearance is that of a heavily degraded or underexposed photograph of a document.

THE WINNING SPIRIT

1. The first thing I noticed when I stepped out of the car was the cold. It was a sharp, biting cold that seemed to penetrate my coat. I shivered as I walked towards the entrance of the building. The air was thick with the scent of old books and the sound of distant voices. I felt a sense of anticipation, a mix of excitement and nervousness. This was my first time here, and I was determined to make a good impression. I took a deep breath and walked forward, my eyes scanning the room. The architecture was grand, with high ceilings and ornate details. I saw people in formal attire, some standing in groups and others walking alone. I felt a bit out of place, but I pushed the feeling aside. I was here for a reason, and I was going to make the most of it. I walked towards the front desk, where a woman in a uniform was smiling at me. She handed me a card and led me to a room. I looked at the card and saw my name and the name of the person I was supposed to meet. I took a moment to collect myself before knocking on the door. The door opened, and a man in a suit looked at me. He smiled and invited me in. We sat down at a table, and he began to talk to me. He told me about the company and the position I was applying for. He was very friendly and seemed to be interested in me. I told him about my background and my experience. He listened carefully and asked me some questions. I answered them as best I could. He then stood up and shook my hand. He told me that I had done well and that he would be in touch with me soon. I felt a sense of relief and accomplishment. I had made it through the first round of the interview. I looked at my watch and saw that it was late. I thanked the man and left the room. I walked back to my room and took a shower. I felt exhausted but also proud of myself. I had faced my fears and taken a big step towards my future. I looked at the card I had been given and saw the name of the person I was supposed to meet. I smiled and thought about the next steps. I was going to make it. I was going to win.
